(2) The provisions of subsection (1) (c) shall not apply with reference to the sale, manufacture or importation of a foodstuff—foodstuff is taken and delivered direct to the purchaser from bulk stock which, or the container of which, bears such a label.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) shall not be deemed to prohibit the description of any foodstuff by, or its sale or importation under, a geographical name which is generally accepted as a generic term for a particular type or variety of such foodstuff, provided the foodstuff described by or sold or imported under the name in question is of the type or variety indicated by that name.

6. Special defences.—No person shall be convicted—

- (a) on a charge of selling, manufacturing or importing or otherwise dealing with any foodstuff or cosmetic in contravention of any provision of this Act, if he proves that the foodstuff or cosmetic to which the charge relates was not sold for human consumption or use, or manufactured, imported or otherwise dealt with for sale for human consumption or use, as the case may be;
- (b) on a charge of selling or importing any foodstuff, cosmetic or disinfectant in contravention of any provision of this Act, if he proves—

 - (ii) that he at no relevant time had reason to suspect that the article in question was a prohibited article; and
 - (iii) in the case of a sale of the article in question, that he sold it in the condition in which he acquired or imported it or, if it was acquired or imported by his employer or principal, that he at no relevant time had reason to suspect that it was in any other condition than that in which it was so acquired or imported;
- (c) on a charge of publishing a false or misleading advertisement of a foodstuff, cosmetic or disinfectant, if he proves that he is not a person selling the foodstuff, cosmetic or disinfectant to which the advertisement in question relates and that he did not know, and could not reasonably be expected to have known, that the said advertisement was in any respect false or misleading, unless it is proved that the accused failed, on demand by an inspector or a member of the South African Police, to furnish the name and address of the person at whose instance that advertisement was published.

- (d) shall contain particulars by which any article to which it applies can be identified, including the mass and size of any such article or its container and the number of such articles or containers.

(2) Any person who furnishes a warranty which is false or misleading in any respect, shall be guilty of an offence.

(3) Any court within whose area of jurisdiction the place is situated where a warranty has been furnished (including any address reflected on such warranty for the purposes of subsection (1) (b)) or where any article to which such warranty applies is sold or where a sample of such article is obtained in terms of this Act, shall have jurisdiction in respect of any offence committed in respect of such warranty under subsection (2).

9. Liability of importer, manufacturer or packer.—(1) The person who, according to the label of any foodstuff, cosmetic or disinfectant which is sold in a sealed package and which does not comply with the provisions of this Act, imported, manufactured or packed the article in question, shall be presumed to have imported, manufactured or packed, as the case may be, such article and may be convicted and sentenced accordingly unless he proves—

- (a) that he did not import, manufacture or pack, as the case may be, such article; or
- (b) that the non-compliance of such article with the provisions of this Act is due to deterioration or some other change which occurred after such article left his possession and over which he had no control.

(2) The provisions of subsection (1) shall not be deemed to relieve any person from liability incurred by him in terms of this Act in respect of the sale of any article referred to in that subsection.
